SECURITY

Don't let bad weather stop your progress. Secure your site surveillance with the BauWatch Solar.

A sunny solution, even in bad weather

You don't want theft or vandalism to impact on your project delivery date. Even if there is no power supply for a surveillance system at your construction site, you still need reliable security. That is why you choose a high-functioning security system that is always working for you, come rain or shine. For example, camera surveillance that runs on solar energy with a 'bad-weather guarantee'. If clouds block out the sunlight, the system automatically switches to an alternative built-in energy source.

Environmentally friendly back up

CO₂-neutral is currently a hot topic, and this includes construction sites. Convenience is what matters to you. BauWatch provides an excellent solution in the form of the Solar: this easy-to-move stand-alone camera is equipped with solar panels and a fuel cell on methanol. Thanks to the direct connection to our 24/7 control room, your construction site is always being effectively monitored. So, you can be environmentally friendly, whilst ensuring the progress of your construction project.

The BauWatch Solar is ideal for:

- Construction sites without power supply
- Infrastructure projects
- Wind and solar farms
